

To see the affects of big media, one only need look at the 24/7 war coverage by the CBS, NBC, ABC, CNN and FOX. Yes, they all have the latest scoop, but if one has it--they all have it. The question is, what are they all missing? Here's one--Afghanistan. I read in the St. Paul Pioneer Press just yesterday that the Taliban is making a largely uncontested comeback in Afghanistan. A red cross worker was even executed. Where was this story on the networks? What else are they missing in the race to get the latest? Please vote to limit media ownership by big conglomerates. Mass media ownership does nothing to enhance diversity in this culturally diverse nation of ours. Thank you for listening.